

Congresswoman Kaptur: When it comes to voting for health reform, we know you have your hands full.

Last November, Congresswoman Marcy Kaptur joined Democrats and Republicans in a common sense vote to stop your tax dollars from paying for abortion. As a result, the health care bill passed by the U.S. House of Representatives prevents taxpayer-funded abortion. The U.S. Senate health care bill – on the other hand – does allow your tax dollars to pay for abortion.

Those are stark differences with serious consequences. How serious? 72% of voters oppose using any public money to pay for abortion, according to a recent independent Quinnipiac University poll.

In an election year, seven in 10 voters is nothing to ignore.

In spite of this, President Obama is pressuring Congresswoman Kaptur to change her vote and support taxpayer-funded abortion when the President's favored bill – the Senate version – comes to the House of Representatives.

Congresswoman Kaptur needs to hear from you because she is facing enormous pressure to change her vote and support the Senate's taxpayer-funded abortion health care bill. Congresswoman Kaptur needs to know that you, the people of Ohio, want her to vote a clear "NO" on this bill.
